

5 ART SHOWS YOU SHOULD SEE IN L.A. THIS WEEK

- Catherine Wagley

Where's Michel? Because she asked him to, artist Michel Auder kept sending Deanna Thompson photographs of himself, and she kept making paintings based on them. So in their two-person show at Kayne Griffin Corcoran, which also includes video by Auder in which he browses the Internet, Auder appears in some of Thompson's paintings. This makes looking something of a "Where's Waldo" experience. In one endearing painting, he's in a garden with a blanket on his head and shirt unbuttoned, holding a plate of chicken. 1201 S. La Brea, Mid-City; through March 14.
