Must-See Art Guide: Los Angeles

This week's guide includes Alec Monopoly, Morris Louis, Lynda Benglis, and more.

The art world knows that Los Angeles is more than movie stars: In recent decades it has generated some of its greatest luminaries, including the likes of David Hockney, Shepard Fairey, and Ed Ruscha. This week, visitors to the City of Angels can expect to encounter pieces from both emerging and established artists who are helping to make L.A. a cultural hotspot.

Head for the Hollywood Hills equipped with our full list of picks below.
